

Mr. Schroeder Feature

By Carly Sena

Mr. Schroeder is in fact retiring this year; however, he is planning on coming back in order to get both his retirement fund and a paycheck. He can't guarantee that he's gonna come back but he is going to try, if he doesn't get rehired he's gonna make sure that his x bell/advisory is going to go to a certain teacher that he knows they will like. His favorite thing about teaching is his students, he calls them his "bank" he said, "the relationships I have with them are more valuable".

Mr. Schroeder has been teaching for 34 years. There were other things he was going to college when he had a "coming to god" moment that led him to his teaching career. Would he ever go back and change what he chose to do? "Heel no".

He has a fan page he thinks "I'm glad it's me because other teachers in the school would have a fit" he also thinks that it is good because it makes fun of him and he makes fun of people all the time so if he "doesn't get made fun of he can't do it anymore".

Overall, Mr. Schroeder deserves all the love he gets from students and staff alike.
