

KYLE MCCORD ENTERS THE TRANSFER PORTAL!

By: Kilean Aguilar

Ohio State starting quarterback Kyle McCord entered the transfer portal after Ohio State was officially eliminated from the College Football Playoffs. McCord, a junior at Ohio State, won the starting QB job after C.J. Stroud (Texans) left and entered the NFL draft. McCord led the Buckeyes to an 11-game winning streak beating teams Michigan State, Penn State, and Rutgers. McCord and the Buckeyes suffered their first defeat to the Michigan Wolverines led by QB J.J. McCarthy and Head Coach Jim Harbaugh. With this loss and Alabama beating Georgia in the SEC championship game Ohio State was officially eliminated from the CFP. McCord would go on and receive numerous taunts and threats from Buckeyes fans after the elimination, which would ultimately factor into his decision to enter the transfer portal. McCord threw 24 Touchdowns and 6 interceptions while accounting for 3,170 yards in his junior season. With McCord soon to be gone, Ohio State will look towards 5 Star 2024 Commit Air Noland, one of the top-rated quarterbacks in the nation currently. He is expected to join the buckeyes in january of 2024. The ultimate question is where will McCord land as he is expected to be a top transfer pickup this off-season?
