THE CONTROVERSY SURROUNDING MUSIC AT HOMECOMING

By Cade Newman

Homecoming is one of the most anticipated events within the school year. Students always look forward to homecoming and the week leading up to it. Though, some students have voiced that the music played at homecoming is somewhat disappointing.

The DJ Club which chooses the music for this event, runs a very selective process to find the music. A form is sent amongst the students of Oak Hills High School, then they are able to request music for this event. Though, there are very strict rules surrounding the choices of music.

For one, this music has to be a radio edit, meaning curse words, references to illegal substances, and anything else deemed inappropriate cannot be used. This does create tension for students as most popular music in recent years contains a lot of offensive material.

One student, Kayla Linkenfelter states "I love homecoming. It is such a fun and meaningful event, but the music played tends to disappoint me and my friends." This opinion is a common one. Another student who also works for the Tartan, Taylor Yeager says "the music at homecoming sucks, they play like five good songs." This is a harsh opinion brought by Taylor, but she isn't wrong. Many students agree that only a few songs are enjoyable.

Many blame this on the DJ Club, except the rules are not up to the students, but to the staff running it. Elan Daum a member of the DJ Club states "I get upset sometimes, as I would love to play songs the crowd likes, but I just can't." Because of the rules that surround this music, some odd music choices have to be made.

FALL IS THE BEST SEASON

By Addison Weldele

With fall just around the corner, it is time to talk about why it is the best season. Many people may argue that fall leads into winter as the air starts to cool down, and our moods decrease, but it is time for bonfires, smores, and so many other fun activities. This makes it a solid candidate for the best season.

Fall brings comfortable weather and changing leaves, making the atmosphere pleasant to the human eye. You have a lot less work to do outside. In the spring and summer, you are constantly mowing your lawn. In the winter, you are shoveling your driveway. Although leaves cover the ground in the fall and you have to rake them, this small hassle has a positive spin as well. It is enjoyable to walk around in your yard with the leaves crunching under your feet, or even to watch your dogs or kids jump around in the leaves while living the time of their lives.

If you are into camping or outdoor activities, this is the season for you. There is camping, hiking, and many other things. Even though people think camping is a summer activity, it is cooler at night in the fall, making it the perfect atmosphere for bonfires and hangouts with your friends and family. Fall is also perfect for hiking and enjoying the beautiful scenery. You are outside enjoying the fresh, fall air, while also getting exercise. But, if hiking and camping isn't your jam, you can take road trips to enjoy the different views around the world. Enjoy the little things and everyone around you.

But, if none of these hobbies are your thing, then look on the bright side. It's football season! Fall marks the first kickoff to one of the fan favorite sports. What is better than high school football on Fridays, college football on Saturdays and professional football on Sundays? I can't think of much! The fall season is the perfect time to invite friends and family over to have a party and watch football.

We can't forget about the holidays that come with Fall. These include Columbus Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving, and Halloween. Time to hangout with your family and friends and enjoy the day. Time to give thanks to everything you have in your life and even dress up and get some candy!

And the smells during this season! The autumn air, pumpkin, cinnamon, and apple! These scents can definitely make someone's mood 10 times better. Everything gets cozy and starts to calm down after the summer madness. You can settle down with a warm cup of coffee, or my personal favorite pumpkin brew, and just take a deep breath and plan out your day. Cozy right?!

Can we also talk about how this is the only season with two names? Fall or autumn. It is still the same season, they both work, and people still know what season you are talking about. Crazy, that's why it is at the top of the list.

I hope this challenges your perspective on fall. All these reasons most definitely make it a prime candidate for the best season. I hope you take this into consideration, and remember, Fall is the best season.

EASY AND CHEAP HALLOWEEN COSTUMES

By Emily Lipps

Halloween is just around the corner and many kids are begging their parents to go costume shopping... But what about the teens? Many highschoolers have to pay for their own costumes which can be very expensive, especially if you are only getting paid minimum wage. To help with this, I have compiled a list of easy, cheap, and fun Halloween costumes any teen can wear and not break the bank!

“Guess Who?” Character. I actually did this last year as a last minute costume and everyone loved it! A big plus is it’s super comfy to wear and you can wear appropriate clothes for the weather! All you need is some thick paper that is bigger than your face and a crazy outfit! Draw a square in the middle of the paper and cut it out. Make sure you can put your face through the hole. You can either print out the “Guess Who?” logo to put on the top or just write it with a sharpie. Finally just get in a crazy outfit and put your face through the “Frame” and you’re a “Guess Who?” character!

Tacky Tourist. This is a personal favorite of mine. I hardly ever see people dressed up as tacky tourists so you’ll also be unique in this costume! To do this costume justice, you need some kind of Hawaiian shirt, a bucket hat, the ugliest shorts known to man, sunglasses, socks and sandals, and if you want a fanny pack or a camera. You could even add a big blotch of sunscreen on your nose to really sell the costume. You can find most of these things at a thrift store or even in your dad’s closet! It’s even better if you act like a tacky tourist too! This costume makes for some very funny pictures!

Scarecrow. A scarecrow is a cute fall costume that is very simple to create. Just pick out your favorite jeans and flannel then pair it with a straw hat and that’s all you need! For makeup you can draw stitches around your mouth and nose. This is also great for when Halloween is colder than usual. The makeup is not necessary but it really will bring the look to scarecrow and not farmer.

Crazy Cat Lady. This is another super cute and easy costume to create. All you really need is a robe, PJ pants, hair rollers and a whole bunch of stuffed cats. You could also add some wrinkle makeup if you wanted. With the robe, just sew the cats to your robe or you could hot glue them. Then you just put your hair in rollers and viola! You are a crazy cat lady!

Last but not least is a Hobo. This costume is probably the easiest on the list. You really only need old, dirty clothes and some black eyeshadow. Once you dirty up some clothes, take the black eyeshadow and use that to make yourself look dirty. Then mess up your hair and use a pillow case as a candy bag (If you are Trick Or Treating) and you are officially a hobo. This one might be a bit popular, but it’s great for a last minute costume!

THE BEST OF PUMPKIN SPICE

By Norah Piegols

Fall starts when the infamous Pumpkin Spice Latte hits the menu at your favorite coffee shop. However, the drop of this fall drink happens on two different days at the competing chains Starbucks and Dunkin’. Each coffee shop has their own take on the iconic PSL and many other fall flavors. The pumpkin spice debate must be settled. The signature pumpkin spice latte, the pumpkin cream cold brew, and the pumpkin muffin will be rated on a scale from 1-10. After all are rated they will be given an average score to determine the winner: Dunkin’ or Starbucks.

To start off strong we have the classic fall drink, a pumpkin spice latte. Dunkin’ releases their fall menu including the pumpkin spice latte two weeks before Starbucks on August 10th. When ordering from Dunkin’ you can choose between a warm or cold version of the famous PSL. Both the warm and cold versions of this drink offer a strong pumpkin smell, however the drink is more overwhelmingly spice flavored. This earns the Dunkin’ drink a 7/10. If you’re looking for pumpkin spice at Starbucks, you will have to wait until August 30th. Starbucks also offers this latte in both warm and iced. The pumpkin spice latte from Starbucks creates a more equally balanced flavor between pumpkin, spice, and coffee. Putting Starbucks in the lead with an 8/10. Another popular fall drink is the pumpkin cream cold brew. This drink has been on the up and up in the past years and is quickly becoming a favorite on seasonal menus. Between the two chain locations they both offer very good, but different flavors. Dunkin’s cold brew has a clear pumpkin taste, with a dominant cinnamon flavor. While Starbucks offers a stronger coffee flavor with only faint hints of pumpkin or spices. That being said, if you’re looking for a sweeter cold brew I would head to Dunkin’. As for ratings Dunkin’ earns an 8/10 and Starbucks a 7/10.

A pumpkin muffin is a classic snack during the fall season. Dunkin’ and Starbucks have very different takes on this yummy treat. The pumpkin cheesecake muffin from Starbucks includes more than just the classic pumpkin flavors. The flavor of the muffin is similar to the Starbucks pumpkin loaf, with the addition of cheesecake-like filling. While Dunkin’s version of this muffin is almost closer to the taste of a carrot cake, with an overwhelming spice flavor. And if you’re looking for a photogenic food to post on your instagram story, Starbucks takes the lead. Baked on this taste test, Starbucks earns a 9/10, while Dunkin’ only gets a 6/10.

After trying and rating pumpkin spice from rival coffee chains, Starbucks wins with the better seasonal menu. After averaging the scores from each category, Starbucks earned an overall 8/10. While Dunkin’ only earned an average 7/10. Keep this data in mind the next time you head out to get your pumpkin spice fix.

MOST ANTICIPATED HORROR FILMS

By Payton Simonson

This time of year there are five must-see films.

5. Barbarian

A horror-mystery following a woman sharing a rental home with a stranger can seem a little too close to an actual fear of anyone traveling yet this movie expertly subverts the natural assumption of the creepy guy being the problem through a surprising enemy. This film has a 7.6/10 on IMDb, has been in theatres since September 9th and will come to HBO Max around October 24th.

4. The Menu

Releasing November 18th, this movie already has people incredibly excited. It's story is of a young couple traveling to an island to be fed by a celebrity chef preparing an incredible menu and a surprise. Critics are raving about the films commentary on the rich never being satisfied and those who haven't seen a glimpse of the film yet are already impressed purely by the movie poster featuring all of the characters in a way that actually relates to the film instead of just being floating heads like Marvel posters.

3. Bodies Bodies Bodies

Generation Z has had a hard time being depicted in popular media. Typically the words we use are butchered, the fashion is off, and it's difficult to really identify with any younger characters. Bodies Bodies Bodies remedies this with a genuinely funny slasher film and stars Pete Davidson, just to really get the 17-21 crowd in theatres. The plot follows a group of people playing the Bodies Bodies Bodies game in a remote mansion, yet one person really ends up dead. The mystery of trying to guess who the killer is along with the adrenaline of the drama between characters makes this a really fun movie perfect for anyone who longs for a good bloody one hour and 35 minutes. This movie came to theatres August 5th and has earned a 6.5/10 on IMDb, so get in while you still can.

2. Nope

Jordan Peele has not missed yet. Directing Get Out, Us, and now Nope, this film has been called "Jaws in the sky" by its fans, which have given this a 7/10 on IMDb. The story follows two siblings discovering something in the skies, which the owner of a nearby themepark attempts to profit off of. I love sci-fi horror especially from such a capable creator. This released July 22nd, and is essential for anyone wanting a tense, exhilarating film.

Pearl

This film is the prequel to the iconic X, the slasher film surrounding adult film stars vs the most horrific enemy: age. This movie follows the story of Pearl, the homicidal elderly antagonist of X when she was young and explores her desires of fame and escaping her repressive family farm. This movie came to theatres September 16th and has earned a 7.5/10 on IMDb.

SCHOOL LUNCH

By Tanner Crim

The school lunch here at Oak Hills is pretty controversial. From the amount of time we have to eat, the seating in the commons, and the actual food itself. Some people believe there are problems that need to be fixed with this and some people believe everything is perfect the way it is.

Let's start with the question of whether or not Oak Hills students are given enough time to eat. With the hallways as crowded as they are, it takes quite a bit of time to get from the other side of the building all the way to the commons to eat lunch. This factor shaves time off of the timeframe given to eat lunch dramatically, and some people even say they have been dismissing lunch earlier than the scheduled time. For some people this is a bigger issue than others. Oak Hills student Joey Williams stated "I feel like as soon as I sit down it is time to leave already, sometimes I have to throw away food that I didnt have time to eat." Oak Hills student Sean Glazer believes "I have plenty of time to chat with my friends and eat. I see no problems."

When it comes to the seating in the commons for lunch, students have some thoughts. Some believe there should be assigned seating so that they dont have to worry about the table they normally sit at being taken already, and some are very happy that there isn't assigned seating because of the freedom of being able to sit wherever you want. Personally, I like the freedom of being able to sit wherever I want and that seems to be the majority opinion. Oak Hills student Cade Newman says "I love the non-assigned seating, I can sit with my friends wherever, whenever I want. It makes things easy."

Many believe the food here at Oak Hills is an upgrade from the middle school lunch. Oak Hills student Jacob Zimmerly reports that, "personally my favorite is the buffalo bites. They are perfect, it's almost like they came from a five star restaurant." I dont know if they are that good, but they are pretty good. Oak Hills student Joey Williams stated "I could eat 10 of the cheeseburgers in one lunch if we had enough time." I tried to interview someone who didnt like the lunch, but I honestly could not find anyone!

With all of these different opinions it makes for an interesting topic to talk about. Will the lunch improve? Will it get worse in the future? Will the prices go up? Will we get assigned seating? I'm not sure, what do you think?

OAK HILLS INTERNET

By Elan Daum

Here at Oak Hills, we all have been experiencing internet issues. From what we have figured out, the wifi connections are getting worse every year. The school buys the same amount of wifi space every year. But with all the new and exciting technology being brought into the field of teaching, it comes with a price. Newer technology pulls in more wifi usage, away from the students on their computers. Some classrooms down the Lochness Lane have been having power flickers recently. When the lights flicker, we know the wifi is going down next. This unfortunately disrupts class and makes it difficult to continue with the lesson planning since the main planning for schoolwork is online and not on paper.

AUTUMN AMORE

By Alex Taft

Within the embrace of a cool and warm autumn day,
The light of a thousand suns extemporaneously sits,
So close, yet worlds away,
The weary approach with love and nerves in dueling splits.
A faithful somebody prays for the universe's benefits,
And stares into the sun longingly;
The picturesque autumn leaves rise in dazzling fits,
And the florid sun laughs delicately.
Yet unseen through the naked eye,
Beneath the sun's casual complexion is a hidden art;
Even stars suffer from the human lie,
The masking of the heart.
So what can one do when even stunning light can't express its amore?
The mortal and the sun must simply stare back at each other, and adore.

TOP 5 HALLOWEEN ACTIVITIES

By Taylor Yeager

It is finally the autumn season again; a major part of it is Halloween. This year Halloween is held on Tuesday, October 31st. Here are the top 5 Halloween Activities for this fall season.

Trick Or Treat- On Halloween most families and friends participate in trick or treating. According to the City of Cincinnati "this year's trick or treating is set from 6-8 pm on Tuesday, October 31st." Unfortunately, Oak Hills has school the next day. Although trick or treating occurs only once a year, trunk or treating is an event that is throughout the whole month of October. Typically these events are held at churches, parks, and schools. Most people decorate their cars or houses for trunk or trick or treating. Trick or Treating is a great way to have fun with your friends or family while getting free candy.

Haunted Houses- Haunted Houses allow teenagers to enjoy Halloween more, as most kids won't enjoy being scared throughout a maze. Most haunted houses or courses open in September for the spooky season. Haunted houses near Oak Hills include The Dent School House, Mt. Healthy Haunted Hall, USS Nightmare, Horror House, King's Island Haunt, Horror Like A Haunted Trail, and Terror Town. A majority of these attractions would be for mature audiences; so teenagers, and children shouldn't be taken to some of these attractions. According to americahaunts.com "the typical haunted attraction averages 8,000 paid guests." Haunted Houses are great to experience with your family and friends this Halloween season.

Pumpkins- During the autumn season pumpkins manage to be a part of almost everything. Obviously pumpkin flavored food and drinks are very popular along with pumpkin scents. Although pumpkin activities are also very popular, people visit pumpkin patches and also carve pumpkins into jack-o'-lanterns. These two activities are typically family-centered activities, for a younger audience. According to finder.com, "147 million Americans plan to have a gourd ole' time buying a pumpkin." A new sensation with pumpkins in recent years is painting. Instead of carving them into Jacko'-lanterns people in recent years have started painting pumpkins. Overall, pumpkins are a big part of the fall season.

Horror movies- A big sensation during October is horror movies. Many people make lists to watch a different scary movies daily, some tv channels offer a different free Halloween movie each day throughout October. As Halloween is surrounded by fear, scary movies also are considered a part of Halloween celebrations. Watching horror movies is not only an autumn activity but a must for Halloween enthusiasts. As people get older they might continue trick or treat or will go to a party or stay home to watch a movie. Most tv providers or websites offer 31 days of Halloween so viewers can celebrate the holiday with Halloween-themed movies or shows. Horror movies are a big part of this horrid holiday.

Decor- Another big Halloween activity would be decorating. Not only do most homeowners decorate for holidays like Halloween or Christmas but so do stores and public areas. Some schools; especially elementary schools decorate their classrooms or halls for Halloween. As most businesses also sell Halloween or autumn-related products during the fall season their store is also decorated. Great stores to buy decor from would be Party City, Target, Home Depot, and Micheal's. According to a Lombardo homes survey "67 percent say they decorate inside and 61 percent say they decorate outside. 54 percent do both." Decor allows people to get in the Halloween spirit so it is an activity most people participate in.

There are many activities to participate in this fall season to celebrate Halloween. The options above are great for everyone in the Oak Hills area, however of course there are many other activities one could participate in. Wishing you a great fall season and a happy Halloween!

HOMEcomings THEMES

By Grace Lewton

Previous Homecoming decoration circa 2015

Each year when the new homecoming theme is named, and almost immediately it is compared to the years before. Not all themes are created equal, as some are widely loved and others raise questions. The past two homecoming themes were A Night In Paris and Enchanted Forest, while this year's theme is Hawaiian Luau. Each of these themes got quite different reviews from students. A few seniors asked to recall their freshman year dance and looked back on it fondly, "It was much more romantic than the other ones we've done." While the romantics of Paris are widely agreed upon, others thought that it was "overdone" and only got picked because it was "easy". Enchanted forest, surprisingly, received no criticism from those asked. Each person who attended enjoyed the decorations and thought that it made for a good formal dance theme. "Enchanted Forest was probably the best," says a student who had gone to both, but another who did not attend a night in Paris said that the forest was "a pretty good theme." Without something to compare the dances too, students felt less passionate. The influence of that comparison seems to never have been stronger than this year when discussing the merits of Hawaiian Luau. Eli, a freshman at Oak Hills, shared his opinion on the theme. "I love the beach, so I think Hawaiian is exciting." A senior, Dave Buster, felt very differently about the dance. "I think that Luau is fun for a football game, even if it's a little overdone, but for a formal dance it's just plain weird." No matter the oddity of some themes, the student council has always managed to pull it off in the past, so for this year's luau, we wish them luck.

OAK HILLS SPORTS

By Malakye Marsh-Welsh

Welcome to your Oak Hills Highlanders sports addition Homecoming article. In this article, I will be covering this season's overview of sports which will include Football, Soccer, and Volleyball (Boys & Girls if applicable). First up is Girl's Volleyball. As of Tue. Sep 27, the Varsity Girl's Volleyball record is (5-9). Doing slightly better is the Junior Varsity team whose record is (7-7) and the Freshman team is not far behind with a record of (6-8). Next up we have Boys Soccer. Starting with Varsity their record is (5-6-1) (Meaning 5 wins, 6 losses, and 1 Tie if you were confused by the third number). Then we have Junior Varsity A with a record of (6-4-1), and Junior Varsity B with a record of (4-5-1). Next, the girl's Varsity soccer team has been doing exceptionally well. As of Tue. Sep 27 their record stands at (10-2-2) without being defeated until recently. Following close behind their lead is Junior Varsity A with a record of (10-0-1), not too shabby if I do say so myself. Last but not least it's Junior Varsity B who have been doing well as they have a record of (10-3). Needless to say, the ladies are having a great season of soccer so far. Last but certainly not least is Boy's Football. The Varsity Football team has a record of (2-4). Followed by the Junior Varsity team with a record of (3-3). Last but not least the Freshman team is currently undefeated with a record of (6-0). Ultimately great job everyone, keep up the good work, and GO SCOTS!

KNIGHTS AND STUFF

By Alex Taft

Swords, good smells, and Midwestern dudes dressed as 12th-century crusaders; the Ohio Renaissance Fair is here. The fair, celebrating its 33rd year, hosts a wide variety of medieval debauchery for all ages, ranging from comedic plays to horse jousting to unhinging your jaw like an invasive species of python consuming a small stray dog in a Floridian suburb so you can eat a massive turkey leg.

So far, the medieval fair has hosted three themed weekends: pirates weekend, highland weekend (go scots!), and time travelers weekend, with more weekends to come. If you're a fan of meatballs, Thor, Minecraft, and destroying English villages, this weekend is currently viking weekend. If you don't want to dress up as a brolic Swede wearing a horned helmet, the week of October 15th-16th is "Romance Weekend" Oo lah lah. Unfortunately, however, there's not really much for an OHHS student to do on this weekend of romance, since the central amenity of the weekend is a free "Renewal of Vows Ceremony", so unless we have any married students in the building there's not much to do with that. After that is the "Feast of Fools", where you could dress up as a fool, jester, clown, or just go as yourself! The final weekend of the fair, October 29th-30th, is trick or treats week, where as the name implies, you go trick or treating at the Renaissance Fair.

With medieval-themed shops offering goods ranging from swords to coffee beans, Waynesville Ohio's Renaissance Fair will surely be a blast for all royalty attending.

HALLOWEEN

By Emma Herzog

People pretending
Voices ascending
Haunted houses are scary
They aren't sweet like a cherry
Across the street I see a witch
It scares me so much I fall into a ditch
Kids yelling "Trick or Treat"
But little do they know I gave them a beet
Ghosts stalking past
It does not look like they are having a blast
Christmas time is coming soon
Definitely not like the month of June
White, glistening snow
Why is the time moving so slow?
