

Letter From The Editors

See Ya, Senior Year

Dear Class of '19,
This is it, the moment we've all been waiting for. A sayonara to the life we've known for our entire young lives. After 4 years of preparation, another chapter in our life is just around the corner. A fresh start, a new beginning.

As each day passes by, we grow closer to the day where we wish each other the best and go our separate ways. Nostalgia will settle in as we look back on our first day of high school, where it all began. We've come such a long way from then, it's crazy to think about.

All the nerves from the first day- trying to navigate the halls to find our classes on time, until we finally settled into our new home away from home. Once we fell into the routine, more exciting adventures awaited.

From school dance jitters to our late night basketball and football games. Someday we'll look back and think about those August days, praying your new classes will have air conditioning to save you from the sweat stains.

Some of us will have tears streaming down our faces as we hug our favorite teachers goodbye for the last time, and thank them for guiding us in becoming the successful person they always hoped we would be. Letting go will quite possibly be the hardest part.

On the other hand, some of us are so excited to start over, they'll nearly grab the diploma and run out (I know I am).

Oak Hills helped us flourish as individuals, taking the things we've learned and putting them towards our new credits. Our goals are limitless. Some may venture out as far away from here as possible, while others may want to stay close to the home they grew up in. The choice is ours to make now, everything falls on our shoulders. Thought it may seem a little unnerving, we all knew this day would come and we have so much more to learn outside of these walls.

Life is just beginning for us, and though this will always be a significant timeline in our lives, we have so much more to look forward to and learn from. The lessons don't stop here and I can only hope that we all lead the lives we have dreamt up for ourselves.

Sincerely,
Elysia Sturm

LAST WORDS FROM THE TARTAN

Nathan Brown
"When in doubt, use sarcasm as a coping mechanism."

Pieper Buckley
"I hope everyone is sister successful in their future endeavors. Thanks, Oak Hills and have a great day."

Morgan Butts
"I would like to thank Wikipedia and Google for my success."

Emily Cole
"When's this due again?"

Ciera Franke
"I finally learned how to right good."

Bailey Garcia
"I feel like all my kids grew up and then they married each other. It's every parents' dream."

Jessica Johnson
"People are still asking me what I have planned for next year. Come on guys, I don't have 20/20 vision!"

Kyra Lough
"I knew exactly what to do. But in a much more real sense, I had no idea what to do."

Ellie Sturm
I'm just tryna' ball with my bru-os... in college. Peace out homies, it's been real."

Dear Seniors,
Although we've only been your school newspaper editors for one year, it's been the best year of our lives. Out of the 18 years living on this earth, this year was for sure the best one yet.

On the real though, it's been cool to see what each of the students in our grade bring. Each one of us has our own special talents, and it amazes us to see how we can come together as a unified whole to express our love for this school. We strived to push our newspaper staff to encompass as many talented people as we could, and hopefully, we were able to show this through the year.

Together, we created memories that will stand the test of time. We created a legacy of fun-loving, energetic, and dedicated students that will surely be remembered for years to come by our fellow students, teachers, and administrators alike. From the Homecoming Edition to our Vlogmas (attempt), and now our Senior Edition, we've had a lot of fun writing articles for you to enjoy.

Besides all this cheesy stuff, here are the five most favorable memories from our experience with The Tartan.

1. Learning that vertical videos are NOT the way to go. Seniors, whatever you do in your life, do not, we repeat, do not take a vertical video. Always take a horizontal video.
2. Senioritis will hit you very hard. Even if you are an editor. It took a lot for us to be able to get our articles done and make sure editing is done in a reasonable time. We feel you.
3. You can be a really good editor even if you've only been at it for approximately 6 months. We think we've done pretty well.

Please don't bash us, we have confidence issues. 4. Bob Herzog and Emily Buckley are pretty amazing people. We got the cool chance to speak to both of these wonderful people, learn about journalism, and hear some cool stories. Sorry, you all missed out.

5. Lastly, spending hours at Dunkin', rushing to finish editions, and scrambling to put everything together, was all worth it. We had fun in complete chaos, and we think we did pretty well for what we had.

Thank you for reading all of our editions, articles, Facebook posts, and Tweets. We've enjoyed being the editors this year and we're excited to see where each of you go. To you, Oak Hills, peace out.

Sincerely yours,
Nathan Brown and Bailey Garcia

Teacher Shoutouts!

"Try not to procrastinate. Time management is the best tool to have!"
- Mrs. Biser

"To all my band kiddos - you're awesome and have left a great legacy here!"
- Mr. Sweatman

"When you pursue perfection you will find excellence."
- Mr. Klotz

"Shoutout to my class of 2019 babes from their Freshman year - Bell 1: Honors Geometry..forever a special place in my heart"
- Ms. Brassfield

"Keep working hard. Plan for setbacks and unexpected turns, and know that your Oak Hills teachers believe in you."
- Mrs. Payne

"Proud of all the work you've accomplished, I can't wait to see what incredible things you go on to do!"
- Mr. Faust

Emma Supe
"Thank you Oak Hills for the memories! The good, the bad, and all the ones in between."
CJ Wilke
"Sometimes things are just a bruh moment."

"Best Memory: Junior year when students bought two goldfish for class pets and I hid the fish from them one morning and I told them I flushed them and they got upset with me. Many students called me all kinds of names and then I pulled the fish out of hiding and I was laughing but the students were mad at me."
- Mr. Funk

"This class had an incredible group of world-changing students. They have made me more confident in the future than any other."
- Mrs. Steel

"Once you get to the next level, start droppin' bars about how you started on the bottom. Be sure to mention your whole team if they are there with you too."
- Mr. Groh

How to Save Money for Life After High School

by Emma Supe

We're in the home stretch of our senior year. We've finished our resumes, applied and accepted college offers, and now we are ready for graduation and a new chapter. Some people are taking a gap year, some are going into the workforce, and the majority of us are going to college. Either path you take, it will cost money... a lot of money. So now is the time to start thinking about where we will be getting that money, and how it will be spent. I asked some seniors about their financial plans and how they are making and saving money. Here are some of their answers...

Ellie Sturm: "you don't."
Jessica Johnson: "I take about 75% of my money to my savings and 25% for spending. I usually do not drive around a lot with the intent of saving gas, thus saving money. I also do not shop for clothes unless it is absolutely necessary, or if I have extra money to spend and treat myself with. Also, home-cooked meals are way cheaper than going out to eat every night!"

Brianna Snapp: "Dumpster diving."

Kendyl Sommerfield: "In order to save money for college I put 50% of my pay checks into my savings account to build up a good amount of spending money for college when I won't be working as many hours."

Maddie Otten: "Working and putting my money straight to my account."

Megan Byrd: "I spend my parents money first."

Mitchell Thornton: "The only thing I do is put some money aside from my paychecks."

Julia Galloway: "oh lordy I don't really save money, I either spend it all or save it for like a week then binge buy and have $0.00 in my account till the next paycheck."

Mostafa Ayoun: "Don't buy drugs I guess."

Caroline Oakley: My parents have had a savings account for me since I was a baby. Any money from birthdays, holidays, or other celebrations goes straight into my education fund. Sucked when I was little and wanted the money for something but now I'm grateful in hindsight because I already have some of my college covered."

Liz Kuebel: "I work whenever I can to get money and I try to put half of it in a savings account and not touch it unless I need to."

Sydney Bledsoe: "Uh well I have $100 in my account so I don't even know how to save money."

Brandon Tirey: "I just put a certain amount of each of my paychecks to the side."

Emma Supe: "Ideally I try to save half of my paycheck and put the rest in my spend account. But that usually never works and I end up spending my whole check within 26 hours of receiving it. But I'm trying... kinda."

How to Try to Survive

by CJ Wilke

As we approach the blessed day of graduation, the harsh reality of the world is coming upon us. There are many basic life tasks that most of us don't know how to face. These include, but are definitely not limited to:

- Balancing a checkbook
- Filling out a resume
- Cook anything (other than ramen noodles)
- How to fill out taxes
- How to fill out paperwork for buying houses or cars
- How to create good credit...or what credit even is
- Paying bills
- How to manage being around annoying people
- How to sign our names in cursive
- How to send professional emails

- How to do laundry
- How to boil water (looking at you, Nathan!)
- How to be held accountable for your actions
- Grocery shopping
- Moving out and dealing with a new characters
- Having a roommate
- Learning how to change interpersonal thought to open up, leading to social and economic success
- Learning how to adapt to hard deadlines
- Learning how to network
- Jury duty
- Learning to eventually raise your kids
- How to be responsible without the handholding of your parents

Adulthood

by Kyra Lough

From the day you were born, You were destined for greatness. All young life is pure, Yet life is your graveness.

Kitchens, You must cook no matter how much you oppose. Laundry is your job now, So just clean your clothes.

As a kid, you were shown many things, Back then they were called a difference. But for all your smarts and societal functions, It is simply an unknown ignorance.

Money is what everyone wants, Where you're as rich as your idol. Nagging may have been an annoyance, But all of those voices could be your survival.

As you move on throughout your days, People will no longer consider it stupidity. Society today refers to it in another form, It is your adulthood responsibility.

Own up to mistakes, Even if it is no pleasure. Paychecks are key, And they will be your monthly treasure.

Now while this may be overwhelming, There is no need to fret. There are simple rules to follow, One for each letter of the alphabet.

Quickly life is going by, So stop and smell the roses, Rest may be your only quiet time, No matter how much you mind opposes.

Adulthood is coming your way, That you must consider. Bills are something that you must accept, Or these pieces of paper will be your killer.

Signatures may just be a name, But never doubt what they are for. Taxes are a bear, Not to mention a bore.

Cleaning is just a part of life, There is no room in society for a snob. Debt is in your future, Repaying it can be considered a job.

Uniforms are just clothing, With a professional twist. Voting is a right you should exercise, To make sure your opinion is not missed.

Education has been a nightmare, But now you must have it released. Food is a necessity in life, Without it, you'll be a beast.

Work can be a dream or a nightmare, It all depends on your enjoyment. X-rays are something you get from a dare, But know that money is from your employment.

Goals in life have always been around, But your dreams have only just begun. Home is where the heart is, And it can be filled by anyone.

Younger generations will annoy you, So just remember you were once there. Zoos are chaotic just like the real world, Always know there is someone who will care.

Insurance is very irritating, Yet necessary form of security. Jury duty is a responsibility too, Just another part of your maturity.

Now adulthood may seem scary, And full of responsibility. Just know that everyone trusts you, And believes in your ability.

Top 10 things I won't miss from Oak Hills

by Emma Supe

1. The odor in the hallways. One thing that I will be glad to leave behind is the terrible stench that lingers throughout the main hallways. The warmer months are particularly bad, as the smell is reactivated and people forget how to keep up with personal hygiene.
2. Freshman. Sorry, but they're the worst. I'll be so happy to finally be away from their awkward selves.
3. No AC and minimal heat. I will NEVER forget the disgusting period in the first month or so when school starts and I come home looking like I took a bath with my clothes on. On the other hand, I wore my coat all winter because it was -5 degrees in school.
4. Slow walkers. We only have 5 minutes to get to each class. So when you have study hall in the commons, and your next class is in the back of the 500's, you're in trouble when the person in front of you is walking slower than molasses.
5. Long wrap lines. There is no greater struggle than booking it to the commons after your 4th or 5th bell to get in the wrap line before it gets busy. If you get there too late, you'll spend the whole lunch period waiting.
6. Parking lot traffic. If you don't sprint and knock people down to get to your car, then you'll be stuck waiting in line for a good 30-40 minutes, and NO ONE wants to do that.

7. Underclassmen not knowing their place. Nothing gets me going more than a freshman trying to sit in front of me at a game. The audacity of some people. Thank you scott squad!
8. Too much PDA. Last time I checked, making out between classes is not something that people like to see.
9. Slow WiFi. Sitting in class for the whole bell wondering if all of your hard work saved, or if it was lost forever will forever give me anxiety.
10. The early mornings. Who decided high schoolers needed to start school at 8 am?

Although Oak Hills does have some bad qualities, the best memories I've ever made have been in this school. I've had so many great experiences that I wouldn't trade for the world. I won't miss the bad things, but I will miss being a Highlander.

SENIOR

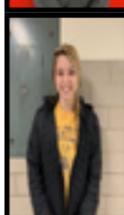

SNAPS!

Committed Athletes

by Jessica Johnson

Sports have always been a huge part of our lovely Oak Hills High School. From the close losses at our basketball games, to our bowling team making state 2 seasons in a row, we have rooted our teams on no matter what. However, high school means the final 4 years of playing a sport we've loved our whole lives...one last hurrah for some of us! It is a bittersweet moment; however, this is not the case for some of our student-athletes. As of now, we have 13 students going to the next level to play for their desired college, and we are all so proud! All of the hard work has paid off, and the Class of 2019 is honored to have such a talented group of students.

The Empty Seats at Graduation

by Pieper Buckley

At the Class of 2019 graduation commencement ceremony on May 18th, 2019, two seats will be left open for the two boys who lost their lives far too soon. Conner Cain and Hawken Hemmerle will be remembered and honored by their family, peers, and community in place of traditional graduation celebrations. Hawken J. Hemmerle tragically lost his life in June of 2014. Hawken never got the chance to start high school, however, he will finish it alongside his classmates. Conner Cain passed away following a car crash in September of 2018. As our senior year started, it took a very emotional toll on the class of 2019, as senior year is supposed to be a happy time. However, we still grieve over the tragic passings.

Anyone that knew them would not have one bad thing to say, and on behalf of the Class of 2019, we are proud to have had classes with them and shared many laughs. Our community quickly came together when they passed on, but nothing will make up for the love, and sorrow, we feel for them and their family. Together, we have become stronger, but it is still not the same without them by our side at graduation. Conner and Hawken will unfortunately not be able to physically graduate with us, but will be there with us in spirit.

Both boys were very social and loved by their community. Conner lived in Delhi, and Hawken

We would like to dedicate all of the work, creativity, and love that went into this edition to Conner and Hawken. Their legacy will live on.

Honor Flight

by Ciera Franke

Honor Flight, a memorable experience for everyone involved, is a trip that sends veterans who are 65 years and older to Washington D.C. so they can see all of the monuments that are dedicated to their service. Although there was much debate about the class legacy, the class officers and senior class advisors felt as if Honor Flight was the most worthy. The Oak Hills senior class of 2019 has made it our mission to fund as many veterans as possible and allow them to embark on this prestigious experience.

Over the past four years, the senior class has raised money through Powder Puff games, donations, selling bracelets, The Walk, selling Veteran's Day t-shirts, and just recently, there was a fun scavenger hunt created by the class officers for the Oak Hills juniors and seniors to participate in, which raised even more money for the program.

When the veterans return from their trip, Oak Hills students, often led by seniors, go to CVG airport to welcome them home. Everyone makes signs and cheers as we give them a warm welcome home, something that may be the first experience for many. While the Veterans are on the trip, students are able to write them letters to thank them and let them know how special they are to all of us here at Oak Hills High School.

This may be our senior legacy, but it will not stop when we are gone. This is such an amazing thing that is done for those who have served our country, and it must go on.

The seniors will forever be proud of the legacy they have left and hope it will be continued by future classes.

Words From Our Alumni

by Emily Cole

As our Senior year slowly comes to a closing, we begin to hear encouraging and uplifting words spoken to us from our peers, our teachers, our counselors, and even our principals. When we are given our final farewells, advice, and goodbyes from the people around us, it's difficult to not feel the emotions that were bound to come at some point in time. Here, we have some special people from graduated classes that wish to send us their words for us to take with us as we move to the next step of our lives.

William Butts, Class of 2018:
"Enjoy high school while you have it. Don't study just on academics - gain knowledge about real life issues like when to change the furnace filter, or how to edge a yard. Adulthood is a huge, huge change and change is something you should expect for awhile."

Kelly Robbins-Patterson, Class of 2002:
"Focus on your future! Continue your education, 10-20+ years from now, you'll understand why you did."

Allison Draggoo, Class of 2016:
"Don't take things so seriously. Live in the moment but remember that the moment changes. Your friends now will change. Your job will change. Your life will change. Don't be afraid of it because fear doesn't stop it from happening. Embrace it."

You may be asking, "Emily, why in the heck should we care?" Well, the answer is simple: they've lived. They've experienced what we haven't. They graduated and they went to college or work after high school. They're living. You don't have to know what you're going to do with your life yet. Sometimes, taking the scenic route is more effective. Live every moment like it's your last and do what makes you happy.

Good luck and take care, Seniors.

A Tribute to Our Lasts

by Bailey Garcia

1. Your last first day
As fun as it might have been in the moment, this truly was the last first day of your normal educational career. No more waking up at 5 in the morning to look your best for the only day of the year. Now, you can wear your sweatpants to college.

2. Your last "heat" month at school
We all know how bad the weather can be in Oak Hills, especially with no air conditioning and 2,519 bodies shoved together in one building. But never fear, you did it. You survived the few weeks of torture and sweat.

3. Your last Homecoming
This one really hit me hard I'm not going to lie. You won't have another Homecoming (unless someone next year invites you). But truthfully, this was the last Homecoming you would go to as a high school student.

4. And your last Prom
This probably hit me harder than the last Homecoming, as this was the last dance I would EVER be attending as a high school student. Although it was memorable, it was also sad to see a good era come to an end.

5. Your last Friday night lights game
Everyone can agree that the best part of high school usually was the Friday night lights games. From Elder games to awesome student sections, these nights will always be remembered. I know for sure I will be coming back to see another game in my old stomping grounds.

6. Your last mashed potato bowl
These are basically the backbone of the cafeteria. Every Thursday, a multitude of students line up to get the best meal of the week. This will truly be missed, as this was for sure the best day of the week.

7. Your last walk through the mile-long
Hopefully, you never had too many classes down in the mile-long. But, if you did, you for sure got a great workout. As annoying as the hallway is, it's definitely a classic of Oak Hills.

8. Your last school performance
Musicians, athletes, and performers alike will all feel the pain of this one. Unfortunately, there comes a day where you won't be participating in your favorite activity at your favorite place ever. Senior night is both exciting and very depressing, but you won't forget your favorite memories with your teammates.

9. Last use of the broken WiFi
No one will feel bad for this one. I really don't remember a time where I was able to use the WiFi for more than 10 minutes before it would stop working.

10. Last time using broken bathroom stalls
If you've never opened the stall on someone, had someone open the stall door on you, or been scared that someone would do this, then you've never really been a student here. By far, the bathrooms are one of the worst features of Oak Hills.

11. Your last squeeze in the parking lot
The parking lot is honestly one of the most stressful places to be. No one knows how to drive, and it's never a school year without at least 5 wrecks. I am so thankful to not have to deal with these hooligans anymore, and this is the one thing I will miss the least.

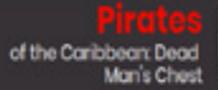

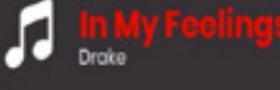

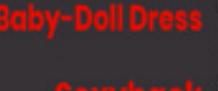

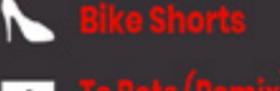

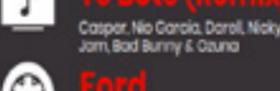

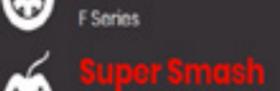

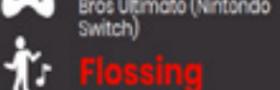

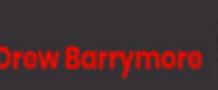

12. Your last pep rally
Pep rallies are decent here. It's fun to watch people mess up and perform on the gym floor. But, the best part for sure though is the drumline. There's no doubt that we have the best drumline in the nation, and it is just amazing and a wild time to see them perform at the pep rallies.

13. Your last walk through the hallways
There will be a day where you will no longer walk through the halls as a high school student. You will have your last class. Your last test. Your last long listen through the morning announcements. Your last time at the place you just spent four years of your life at. This too shall end.

This, yes, is a sad time. But it also a time where you will be experiencing a whole set of "firsts". Hopefully, you have appreciated the good (bear with me) times that you had at Oak Hills. As the man Andy Bernard once said, "I wish you knew you were in the good old days before you left them," and I wish to you nothing but the best in the adventures of your next "firsts".

Godspeed, warriors.

SENIOR SHOUT-OUTS!

TO: Haleigh Ungerbuehler, Ariel Rodgers, Corrine Sizemore

Here we are at last guys! It's been a crazy few years but we made it! I'm going to miss you guys!

FROM: Samantha Latscha

TO: Kevin Nguyen

Thanks for helping me with my math homework

FROM: Isaac Tarter

TO: Bailey Garcia

I want to thank this lady for always being there for me. On top of her taking 4 AP classes, she is a part of the Red's RBI program and has long practices nearly every day and regularly volunteers with them in her free time. She is a continuous giver to everyone and everything she cares about and is an amazing person to look up to. She has recently signed with Ohio Valley University for softball, but this hasn't stopped her drive to do the best in both academic and athletic life. Thank you for being an amazing person and an amazing friend!!

FROM: Gabrielle Buccino

TO: Matthew Sexton

Even though he graduated early and doesn't have a job or anything, he's still pretty cool

FROM: Mikey Cable

TO: Bria Perkins

I am so lucky to have you as a friend. You make my day when you are around.

FROM: Abigail Malsbary

TO: Ellie Sturm

For being my forever friend through everything crazy that's happened our senior year!

FROM: Jaclyn Jasper

TO: Jacob (Berk) Berkemeier

Berk always takes the butt ends of jokes but is just a guy about it, so go Berk!

FROM: Michael (Balor) Apparius

TO: Ashley Martz

I don't know where you've been my whole life twinnie, but I'm glad we found each other in the pool this year (-:

FROM: Lauren Watkins

TO: Ty Wetterich

Ty is a wonderful friend and is very kind, helpful, and unique.

FROM: Mostafa Ayoun

TO: Alaa Habbas

I want to shout out Alaa Habbas for all the good memories on the Los Amigos team.

FROM: Carson Lewis

TO: Christian Vanover

He's good at lax but better at the rap game and that's facts.

FROM: Mitchell Kannerberg-Carter

TO: Donovan Jenkins

Donovan has been a friend of mine since my freshman year. He's a realist, and a good joker. He knows the best way to get assignments done while motivating others around him to complete theirs. He's a great friend who will never be forgotten, no matter how long it takes for us to see each other again once we graduate.

FROM: Connor Fort

TO: Mitchell Carter

Thanks for not punching the refs at basketball games and having them hate us.

FROM: Isaac Tarter

TO: Carly Warman

Thanks for being the best friend and for helping me survive high school!!

FROM: Abby Aulsman

TO: Zach Moeller

Kick it to zmo that's three moe, #apstats-bestclassever

FROM: Mitchell Kannerberg-Carter

TO: Mya McCreary

I want to shout one of my best friends out because she has been there for me since 6th grade and she has gone through a lot over the last four years and is one of the strongest and smartest people I know. I love you mya (:

FROM: McKenzie Becker

TO: Ciera and Bailey

What's poppin' big dog?

FROM: Bailey and Ciera

TO: Pieper Buckley, Grace Devoid, and Tiffany Miller

I'm shouting out my BFF's for being with me for years and always having my back. Thank you for all the crazy memories!!!

FROM: Trinity Pfalz

TO: Lauren Shaw, Sydney Louis, Alex Kidd

Thank you for being the best friends I could ask for. I will never forget you, dingbats!

FROM: Mhea Zwerin

TO: Lucas Abel, and Noah Rebenack

So basically wanted to thank you guys for being such studs these past four years and making dope memories and I can't wait to see what college holds for us!!!

FROM: Timothy Doyle

TO: Samantha Gray & Karinne Miller

Sam & Karinne have been there for me throughout all of high school but senior year they became the two people I know would have my back no matter what, my best friends. I cannot see myself going through life without them. To have two friends that basically became family when you fell into some of the darkest spots in your life really makes you appreciate everything about them. So I'm gonna shout them out for being the amazing people they are. I love you both soooo much.

FROM: Haleigh Moore

TO: Olivia Sinnard

Shoutout to my best friend for being there for me whenever I needed anything! love youuuu

FROM: Emilee Murphy
